

TENNESON WOOLF

CONSULTING

Leadership Facilitation | Coaching | Reflection & Writing

Learn Here, Online & Inperson (Pending)

June 4 - 25, 2020

Wisdom & Forgiveness: A 4-Week Online Class

June 23 - July 14, 2020

The Circle Way: A 4-Week Online Class (Registration Updating Soon)

August 13-16, 2020

Whidbey Island, Washington The Circle Way Intensive
Registration Opening in 2020

More Coming Events

Read Here

Perseverance – Thx Meg Wheatley

Staying Connected During Self Isolation – Thx Sam Bradd

Another Systems View of This Virus and These Times

Toward Pheasant Brook – A Poem of Hope

Get Daily, Human to Human Blog Posts

These Co Vid Times

Greetings All.

So..., these times. They call for us to physically distance, yet remain connected. So much of the world's regular patterns are in suspension, raising fear, but also hope.

I keep telling myself, my loved ones, the people I work with, “one day at a time.” To “do your best to lean into the uncertainty and the unknown.” To “stay simple.” To “remain kind, and as awake as possible.” I continue to offer formal coaching around such things.

Most of us don't know what is on the other side. It doesn't feel like a return to “normal.” But it does feel like quality community and being wise together will continue to matter.

I hope the resources on the left help you in your version of making sense, and learning, in these times.