Paths

Greetings All. Thanks for peeking at the resources and events on the left. I remain grateful to be involved in good paths with good people.

If I pick a story line, a belly-layer of truth, that stands out to me from 2019, it is the hunger I see that people have to be in the deeply human spaces together. That's communities, teams, and organizations. I keep languaging it as getting to "the thing behind the thing behind the thing" (that turns out not to be a thing).

It seems more and more these days, so many of us are seeking an ability to not just solve problems, but to add capacity to be in an inherent unresolvedness too. Sustainable organizations require capacity in both the inner and the outer.

I welcome our further connection. To supporting these paths.
