

TENNESON WOOLF

CONSULTING

Leadership Facilitation | Coaching | Reflection & Writing

Learn Here

March 22, 2019
Ogden, Utah
Weber State University's
Intermountain Sustainability
Summit
The Art of Convening:
Methods and Frameworks for Working Skillfully in Complexity and Community

June 4-6, 2019
Portland, Oregon
Transforming The Way We
Gather And Lead: An Art of Hosting Intensive

More Coming Events

Read Here

Less SWOT, More SCOPE

The Simple Narrative: The Basics Are The Same

[Get Daily, Human to Human
Blog Posts](#)

Listen Here

On Grief (16 Minutes with Quanita Roberson)

Honestly Speaking

Greetings all — you are receiving this newsletter because you've either participated in one of my workshops in Utah over the last few years, or, you've expressed interest to learn more. There are a pile of resources in the left column. Look. Peek. Peruse. Get curious. Sign up. Comment.

As context refresher, I am a facilitator, workshop leader, teacher, blogger, and coach committed to improving the quality of collaboration and imagination needed in groups, teams, and organizations — to help us be in times such as these. I've worked globally over the last 20 years in many layers of systems seeking everything from better meetings to better humaning together.

I welcome you connection — whether with a comment to a piece of writing, or to venture together into a workshop like the one I'm cohosting later this month as part of Weber State's Intermountain Sustainability Summit.

Together, we go further.